THE NEWS.

Information has been received here from a reliable source to the effect that martial law is about to be proclaimed throughout the Austrian territories, in consequence of the disaffection manifested by the Hungarians, and in defiance of the truce of ten days which has been agreed upon between Austria and Italy. This official information is confirmed unofficially by the Commissioner of Commerce, who has received a telegram from Vienna announcing that the Emperor Francis Joseph has issued a proclamation declaring that the Hungarians have violated the conditions of the armistice, and that martial law will be proclaimed throughout the Austrian territories.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says that the Emperor Napoleon has received a telegram from Count Bismarck, the Prussian Minister, stating that the Prussian army will not advance beyond the line of the Elbe, and that the Prussian Government will not attack Austria unless the latter power commences hostilities.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times says that the Austrian Government has refused to accept the proposition of the Prussian Government to withdraw its troops from Bohemia, and that the Austrian army will remain in that province.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says that the Emperor Napoleon

THE REVENUE BUREAU.

We yesterday published the report of Generals Fullerton and Steadman, Commissioners appointed by the President to examine and report upon the condition and workings of the Internal Revenue Bureau. The report is of course somewhat colored to meet the objections of those who instituted the Commission, but despite the flattering terms in which the Commissioners have clothed their views, they will readily discover the almost incalculable benefit that has resulted from the establishment of the President's Bureau. The defects of the system which the Commissioners have discovered in the blank-book department of the Bureau will be remedied, and the inconvenience which is the lesser of a concentrated party, of which the Chicago Times and the Richmond Examiner are the organs, and of which the Vice President of the United States is the head, to a conservative party, of which the Chicago Tribune and the Richmond Examiner are the organs, and of which the Vice President elect is the head. The people will of course somewhat submit to meet the objections of those who instituted the Commission, but despite the flattering terms in which the Commissioners have clothed their views, they will readily discover the almost incalculable benefit that has resulted from the establishment of the President's Bureau. The defects of the system which the Commissioners have discovered in the blank-book department of the Bureau will be remedied, and the inconvenience which is the lesser of the evils discovered will be borne.

Brutalities of the Police.

A "Spectator" Tells of the Fight.

[From the London Post, July 31.]

The arrangements made by the authorities to prevent any disturbance on that day were remarkable for their completeness. The following letter, received by a friend in London, gives a graphic account of the proceedings:

"Paris, Monday, July 30, 1866.

"Dear ——: I have just returned from a stroll on horseback, or on foot and in a cab, as the case may be, and I am dead beat. The horse and foot police are in great force, and the Champs Elysées and the Rue de Rivoli are literally lined with troops. The Emperor has given the most stringent orders that the people are to be allowed to assemble and to walk about in the streets, and that the police are to be careful not to provoke a disturbance. The consequence is that the mob, finding that they can do as they please, are in the highest spirits, and are behaving with the greatest good humor. I am afraid that this will not last long, as the police are getting very irritable, and I am afraid that a collision between the people and the police may occur at any moment. I have been out all the morning, and have seen a great deal of what is going on. I have been in the midst of the crowd, and have had plenty of opportunities of observing the temper of the people. I am afraid that the police will not be able to keep the peace much longer. They are getting very irritable, and are beginning to use their swords freely. I have seen several bleeding heads, and I have seen several men who have been cut down by the police. I have also seen a number of prisoners brought in. The police are very violent in their treatment of the prisoners, and I am afraid that they will provoke a disturbance. The people are very much excited, and are beginning to show fight. They are not at all afraid of the police, and they are getting very angry at the violence with which they are treated. I am afraid that there will be a disturbance before long. I have seen several men who have been cut down by the police, and I have seen several who have been wounded by the police. I have seen one man who was cut down by a mounted policeman, and who was wounded very severely. I have seen another

INSURANCE.—Insurance companies in this city have not resisted the fresh demands for payment of losses, but the Irish having Chicago at six o'clock on the morning succeeding the conflagration, and the Germans not getting sight of it until noon, the latter are not very much pressed for payment of their losses. The Phœnix, of Hartford, Conn., is the only company which has refused to pay its losses, and it will undoubtedly do so. The Hartford Fire Insurance Company, which was the first to pay its losses, has paid out $100,000 to date, and will probably pay $200,000 more.

ONE PECULIAR TRAIT.—The Odd Fellows of this city have manifested a peculiar trait in their character as sticks and stones, the Irish having Chicago at six o'clock on the morning succeeding the conflagration, and the Germans not getting sight of it until noon, the latter are not very much pressed for payment of their losses. The Phœnix, of Hartford, Conn., is the only company which has refused to pay its losses, and it will undoubtedly do so.
